

What If the Kettles

What if the Kettles made friends with the Pots?
What if the Leopard could change his spots?
What if the Humans could join the dots?
Then would be Kingdom come.

What if the potentates, presidents, priests
said to the great, gentle, grazing beasts:
'Lend us your fields to grow great bean feasts',
Then would be Kingdom Come.

What if we dug with our eyes and our ears,
planted and farmed (enough) for a thousand years?
What if we watered the earth with tears?
Then would be Kingdom come.

What if we sifted the sea with a sieve,
so that the whales and the fishes could live,
so that our grandchildren could forgive?
Then would be Kingdom-come.

What if the Kettles made friends with the Pots?
What if the Leopard could change his spots?
What if the Nations could join the dots?
Then would be Kingdom-come.
